The University of Denver (DU) Amache project will be leading four weeks of field research at Amache and the Amache Museum in Granada, Colorado, June 14-July 8, 2022. Although you are welcome to come visit us any time during the field season, we particularly invite those with a personal or family tie to Amache to a special community open house.

Thursday (7 pm – 8:30 pm):

Enjoy a talk about Amache history & meet the other attendees at the Granada Community Center.

Friday: (8 am - noon): Visit with the archaeologists and learn more about our findings this summer.

Guided tours of family barracks, the reconstructed structures, and other areas of interest will be available.

(1- 4 pm): Visit the Amache museum. See the new exhibits and collections, research family history, and work with the objects found this summer. Chat with other community members to share stories and make connections.

(5 – 8 pm): Dinner for all open house participants.

If you plan to attend the Community Open House, please RSVP by June 10 to Melanie Assis, DU Anthropology Departmental Assistant: (303) 871-2677 or via email at melanie.assis@du.edu
