

The DU Amache Project invites you to

JOIN US AT AMACHE!

The University of Denver (DU) Amache project is focused on researching, interpreting, and preserving the tangible history of Amache, one of ten WWII-era Japanese American incarceration camps. This summer, the University will be leading a month of field research at Amache and the Amache Museum in Granada, Colorado.

OPEN HOUSE: July 2, 2022

(8 am - noon): Come watch archaeologists as they uncover the history of Amache on-site. Take a tour, learn about site survey, and watch active excavations.

(1- 4 pm): Visit the Amache museum. See the new exhibits and collections, and work with objects in the field lab.

For more information about the DU Amache project and directions to the camp go to: <http://portfolio.du.edu/amache>

